What will I be studying?

The course in Year 1 is assessed by two exams, Core A and Core B.

Core A is about working in the health care sector, which includes topics like person-centred care, legislation, safeguarding and codes of conduct.

Core B is the science section of the course, so it looks at physics, chemistry and biology with a large chunk being anatomy and physiology.

The third assessment is called the ESP, Employer Set Project and that is an exam board task you have 16 hours to complete and involves role play with you as a health care worker and a case study that requires a suitable care plan. This written and videoed evidence of skills.

There is also an element of practical work which supplements your learning through activities.

Health and Social Care in the Media

It is important to have a broad understanding of health care and social issues which affect services and professionals working for the NHS. One way of raising your awareness is to prepare you before your course starts with summer learning using different forms of media.

Your task is to pick...

- 2 Films
- 1 Book
- 2 Documentaries

You are then tasked with writing a report which is to be a minimum of half an A4 page with the following title: 'Discuss the issues [in the film/book or documentary] and impact on health care provision'

You must watch or read using examples on the previous slides or another media resource relevant to your learning.

Consider the following:

- What issues, if any, are being raised in the stimulus? E.g. dementia
- How does the stimulus present health? E.g. care for people with dementia
- Explain why the topic of the media source is relevant to your learning and whether you think it is helpful and why?

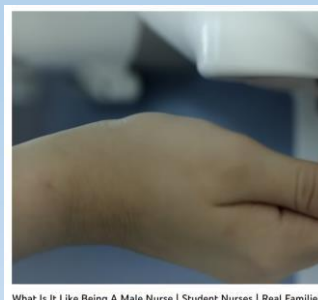

This list is NOT exhaustive there may be other questions/ideas you wish to consider as you watch or read – it would be lovely to share with us all.

History of the NHS

Make a leaflet outlining the history of the NHS

Include sections on:

- Healthcare before the NHS
- When/ why the NHS was produced
  - What the NHS does
- Significance of the NHS
- How is the NHS different in other countries

The Beveridge Report, 1942

In 1942, a plan had been presented by William Beveridge, a senior civil servant, detailing key areas for post-war reconstruction, aimed at establishing a national system of welfare for the people. It identified 'five giants' that were to be overcome: want, disease, ignorance, squalor and idleness.

When the Beveridge Report first appeared, it was welcomed by all the parties. There was broad agreement that protection needed to be provided for all members of society, and so when Labour came to power in 1945, they implemented the proposals in this report, thereby establishing the welfare state, a system which all governments after 1951 accepted in its essentials. This common acceptance became known as consensus.

Giant	The 1945 Labour Government's Solution
Want	To be ended by National Insurance. The National Insurance Act created a system whereby the government, employers and employees all paid for insurance which would pay out in the event of unemployment, sickness, maternity and retirement.
Disease	To be ended by a comprehensive health service. The National Health Service Act provided free medical and hospital treatment for all (the NHS).
Ignorance	To be ended by an effective education system. The Labour Party continued to support the Conservative's 1944 Butler Education Act which provided free education within grammar schools, technical schools or secondary schools.
Squalor	To be ended by slum clearance and rehousing
Idleness	To be ended by full employment
